“Mystic” Saleen Mustang Sports Look of Things to Come

A car as hot as the 480-horsepower Saleen Speedster screams to be wrapped in an equally hot finish and that’s exactly what happened to the Mustang that high performance auto manufacturer Steve Saleen recently supplied to BASF Corporation’s Automotive Refinish Group.

With numerous cues from the 1995 model Saleen/Allen Speedlab race cars, Saleen designed a unique Speedster for this very special project. This model sports 19” center lock Speedline wheels and 255/40/19 Dunlop SP Sport 8000 tires. The interior includes the very latest in leather sports seats by Saleen/Recaro. The aerodynamics of the Mystic Saleen provide the most dramatic features with a prominent aggressive new look to the front air dam, side scoops and rear diffuser. These designs were created from actual race track development.

The experts at BASF took Steve’s custom supercharged road machine and covered it in a state-of-the-art finish that’s like nothing ever seen before.

This amazing finish, known as “Mystic,” can appear teal-green, emerald green, blue, violet or gold depending on the angle from which it’s viewed. Even more remarkable is that Mystic achieves this fluid, chameleon-like effect with a simple two-step, basecoat/clearcoat process.

“This will be the future of automotive color styling, because of the effect you can achieve,” says Patrick Mormie, applications supervisor and chemist with BASF. “The degree to which you can obtain the color shift effect has never been this great. Even with tri-coats you couldn’t get this pronounced of an effect.”

The Saleen Mustang’s sleek lines are the perfect vehicle for showcasing Mystic’s prismatic color effect, results that refinish experts have labeled “color by physics.”

The constantly changing Mystic finish results from combining a hi-tech, five-layer pigment flake with BASF’s newly-introduced “Glasurit Line 55” basecoat/clearcoat system. The two-step Mystic finish process is not only easier to apply, but yields more dramatic results than the standard tri-coat approach. And Mystic offers a consistent, symmetrical color shift, regardless of the light or intensity.

When the Mystic Saleen Mustang went on display at the 1995 SEMA and NACE shows, attendees got an up-close look at the dynamic effect produced when Mystic’s dazzling lightplay meets a muscular street machine. (In fact, this was a slightly subdued version of the Mystic finish, having been mixed with black. The added opacity tones down the color shift effect and improves hiding.)

Although the Mystic finish is not yet commercially available, BASF Marketing Director, North America Tom Hoenle believes it will command a substantial share of the special color market, once people see the shifting array of colors they can get.

“In a few years, you’re going to see a lot of cars sporting a prismatic type finish,” says Hoenle. “People find the shifting color effect very appealing, and we’re anticipating a tremendous demand for it in the future.

“I guess you could say the Mystic finish on this Saleen Mustang is the next generation of automotive finishes.”
From The Cockpit

If I had known all it takes to beat the Corvettes and the Porsches was a little bone crunching, well, I might have considered it sooner! Then again, maybe not — I suppose sacrificing my body for the team would be a little drastic. All we needed was the extra development time and those trendy "BIG WINGS". Check out the photo below. Our not-so-secret weapon was just the right treatment to put our "more" power down and bring home our first (of many to come) wins for the Saleen/Allen "RRR" Speedlab Team.

We have already started our testing program for next year as the racing season starts very early in 1996. We will be back with the same team and sponsors as well as a few new ones. Tim Allen and Bob Bondurant are signed on for next year and everyone expects consistent podium finishes.

We had a great time at the last race event at Sears Point in Sonoma, California. We closed up shop and flew all our employees up for the race. We had the majority of our sponsors and about a dozen journalists on hand in the Saleen Hospitality area, on top of the hill at Turn 2. It was a great spot to watch the race and a wonderful way to end the season.

Many thanks go out to the all the guys on the race team whose many long hours and extraordinary efforts finally paid off. And a great thank you to our sponsors and fans who have made 1995 very special with their support.

Be sure and check out the the next page — I can almost hear the sounds of the Great White North calling my name already. The Olympians won’t be the only ones “going for the gold” in 1996. Our gold will be found in Alaska. If you have never cruised before, or you already have your sea legs, this is one trip you will not want to miss. I can personally guarantee the scenery will take your breath away. The “Sun Princess” is a brand new ship on its maiden season in Alaska. This cruise is being advertised in “Muscle Mustangs and Fast Fords” issue  out in January, so don’t delay in signing up. There is limited space with our big discount. Come on out and enjoy yourself.

My broken leg is mending very fast and I thank all of those sending along their best wishes and get well cards. Santa promises me a two-legged gait again. Speaking of the jolly fellow — everyone here at Saleen Performance, Saleen Performance Parts, Saleen/Allen Speedlab and Team Saleen wish you a very happy holiday season and hope 1996 brings you many successes and peace.

Letters...

We recently received this letter from the lucky winner of the Motor Trend Saleen Mustang giveaway. Thought you might enjoy it.

Dear Steve Saleen,

I would like to thank you for running the contest last year in which I won one of your S351 convertibles. We all anxiously awaited delivery of it, which happened last month. It was worth the wait!

The car is everything I expected and then some. From the sound of the engine at any RPM to the feel of the road and the sense of security in its handling and braking, it is obviously not a normal performance car.

I have read numerous letters-to-the-editor of various magazines about the Saleen Mustangs not being as good as a "factory" Camaro or Firebird. I have driven both and own a Corvette and can attest to your car being technically superior to both the Camaro and Firebird and similar in its handling and braking to the Corvette but with more power and acceleration.

Enclosed is a picture of the car with myself. Thank you again and I hope the contest paid off in sales.

Sincerely, G.A. Robinson

More Saleen Racer Congrats...

Dear Fellow Saleeners,

I don't think the ink was dry on my Team Saleen membership card when I competed in the Autocrosses on the 8th & 9th of July at the "Fun Ford Weekend" in Norwalk, Ohio. This event included a swap meet, car show, and drag racing. Al Rosso Ford had a beautiful new 1995 White Saleen on display.

The autocross put on by the "United Ford Owners" was a tight, short, challenging course. Each of the competitors ran fifteen runs per day. Up until the thirteenth run on Saturday, I was in First Place, but managed to finish Second. On Sunday I got out front and stayed first.

Enclosed are pictures of my Saleen (88-0351) with my First and Second Place trophies.

Sincerely, Randy Holton

TIM ALLEN “BURNS OUT” JAY LENO IN SALEEN MUSTANG SR

“Home Improvement” star Tim Allen, driving his 1995 Saleen Mustang SR, put “Tonight Show” host Jay Leno to the test to see who could burn the most rubber.

Competing again to settle an old feud they started a few years ago, the celebrity automotive enthusiasts raced before Tim Allen’s recent appearance on the “Tonight Show”. A few years ago, Allen and Leno staged a drag race to see who had the fastest car. Allen complained he missed a shift and Leno won behind the wheel of his Cobra replica sponsored car. This time, Leno spun the wheels of his Buick Grand National twin-turbo drag car and left an 88-foot patch of rubber in NBC-TV’s parking lot. However, he was no match against Allen’s 550-horsepower Saleen Mustang SR, which Allen drives as part of the Saleen/Allen “R&R” Speedlab with partner Steve Saleen. Allen laid out 159 feet.

“This is what happens when two regular guys who happen to love cars get their own TV shows. You get nationally televised burn outs,” Allen said after the stunt.

KEN GRIFFEY JR. SCORES ANOTHER HOME RUN WITH SALEEN SR MUSTANG

Famous Seattle Mariner Ken Griffey, Jr. will add even more power to his game with the recent purchase of a brand new Saleen SR Mustang, the most powerful street vehicle sold in an American dealership.

Pictured with Saleen Performance President Steve Saleen, Griffey recently picked up the SR from Harris Ford, a member of Saleen’s network of more than 75 franchised Ford dealerships throughout the country.

The newest addition to Griffey’s collection (he also owns a 1991 Saleen convertible and 1995 535i convertible) features a Saleen/Vortech supercharged engine capable of generating 480 hp, true magnesium wheels, carbon fiber hood, several weight reduction modifications, 4-point roll bar and racing bucket seats.

FORD CORPORATE TAKE TURNS IN A 1995 SALEEN MUSTANG

Ford Motor Company executives recently had the opportunity to tour around Detroit in a 1995 Saleen Mustang provided by Saleen Performance. The vehicle was shipped to Detroit at the request of Alex Trotman, President of Ford Motor Company. The following story was relayed to us by a Ford Motor Company employee who happened upon the following:

The morning started out as a typical Friday morning. Get up at 5:45 am, shower, get dressed, take my son to daycare, and begin the battle of rush hour traffic on the way in to the office. As I head down I-275 to the I-94 intersection, I tune the suspension of the 1995 Lincoln Continental to firm to make my usual cornering maneuver around the large sweeping curve that points me towards Ford World Headquarters.

As I merge into the next lane, I spot a white 1995 Mustang that looks a little different. I wonder if it could be a modified Mustang or maybe the new 1996 Mustang Cobra, or better yet a Cobra R? As I approach 70 mph, I notice that the taillights are trimmed in black. I notice that the body panels are not the usual Mustang style, then I see that the license plate is a manufacturer’s plate. This must mean that it is an engineering vehicle, probably something being tested for the near future.

Traffic starts to back up and it becomes harder and harder to get close enough to really see what it is. All of a sudden an opening occurs and I shoot into the next lane two car lengths behind the Mustang. I notice some familiar graphics on the side, the wide white wheels and the huge tires under the car. It looks like it’s a white Saleen Mustang. As I get the chance to pull next to the Mustang, the Saleen special colored graphics are very clear, so was the “351” insignia on the hood. Thinking this Saleen is probably being used for test purposes, I quickly began to think of how I could get my hands on this vehicle.

As I got side by side with the Mustang, I noticed a familiar face behind the wheel. Sitting behind the steering wheel with a large grin on his face was Alex Trotman, President and CEO of Ford Motor Company. And when I say large grin, I mean LARGE grin. He looked over, smiled again, and that was the last time I saw the Saleen up close. I never caught up with the Saleen again on the ride in. The only thing I remember seeing after my brief encounter, was the black trimmed out taillights as I began to slow down from 85 mph. What a morning!

It made me want to go home, take the day off, get the Shelby convertible out of the garage and just drive the day away!

However, at 6:00 PM I promptly left the office and went home to enjoy the weekend with my family.

SALEEN/ALLEN SPEEDLAB CONQUERS SCCA WORLD CHALLENGE SERIES AT SEARS POINT RACEWAY

Steve Saleen Brings New Meaning to “Break A Leg” With Show-Biz Racing Teammate Tim Allen

October 13, 1995

Former SCCA Racing Champion Price Cobb, driving for Steve Saleen in his high-performance Saleen Mustang SR, won the final race of the season in the SCCA World Challenge series at Sears Point Raceway on October 7, 1995.

Cobb finished with a fastest lap time of 1:40.301, recording an average speed of 90.447 mph on the 25-lap race. Racing teammate and “Home Improvement” star Tim Allen took sixth place in the Sports Class. His fastest lap was 1:46.97 with an average speed of 84.805 mph.

Saleen was out this race because of a broken leg he suffered in a traffic accident, where he was (ironically) a passenger in a Jeep Cherokee. Legendary racer Price Cobb filled in, driving Saleen’s own (#55) Mustang SR. Cobb, who placed first in both qualifying rounds, hog race series leader David Murry.

“Although I wish I could have been out there racing, it was a great feeling to see my team leading the competition,” said Saleen. “As any Saleen Mustang owner knows — their car can beat any Corvette or Porsche — the race team has proved it on the track this season.”

A mechanical failure prevented teammate Bob Bondurant from finishing the competition, however, he set a new track record in the qualifying round beating the existing track record with a fastest lap time of 1:44.951.

Hundreds of fans gathered at the Saleen/Allen “RRR” Hospitality tent where the team graciously signed hats, T-shirts and posters after the race. “The celebrity of Tim Allen really helps add public support to our team as well as the sport of racing,” adds Saleen.

The Saleen/Allen “RRR” Speedlab team of Saleen (#55), Allen (#75) and Bondurant (#65) will join together again for the 1996 season and Saleen is confident of the team’s future. “Given the success of this race, I believe next year we will come out even stronger,” said Saleen. “This was an excellent way to end the first season for Speedlab and I can’t wait to get back out there again next year.” The team boasts an extensive roster of sponsors, including Disney’s “Home Improvement” (promoting the show’s syndication this Fall), Ford Motor Company, Tower Automotive, Dura Automotive Systems, Goodyear Tire, Bosch, Glasurit, Eibach and Hypro.

SALEEN AND BASF SIGN 1996 SALEEN/ALLEN “RRR” SPEEDLAB SPONSORSHIP

December 1, 1995... Saleen/Allen “RRR” Speedlab Owner Steve Saleen announced today the signing of BASF Corporation’s Automotive Refinish Division, as a major sponsor for the Saleen/Allen “RRR” Speedlab team for the 1996 SCCA World Challenge Racing season.

“We’re extremely excited about this sponsorship,” said Guy Bargnes, Marketing Manager for the Division. “Saleen’s reputation as a specialty vehicle manufacturer, Allen’s high profile personality and Bondurant’s legendary racing skills give us a team with incredible potential for our initial foray into the racing circuit.”

The Saleen/Allen Mustangs are easily recognizable by their bold black, white and yellow finishes and their striking, purple-accented racehorse graphics — all applied with Glasurit, BASF’s premium line of finishes.

Adds Bargnes, “This sponsorship not only gives us a chance to keep our name in front of people, but to show the kind of powerful results that can be achieved with our products as well.”

BASF, a global chemical company, is among the world’s leading producers of automotive coatings. The Automotive Refinish group, headquartered in Dearborn, Michigan, markets high quality automotive coatings under R-M and Glasurit Brands.
